No vaſt obſcuritie or miſte vale,
VVhere bloodie murther or deteſted rape,
Can couch for feare but I will finde the mout,
And in their eares tell them my dreadfull name,
Reuenge which makes the foule offender quake.
Titus. Art thou; Reuenge? and art thou ſent to mee,
To be a torment to mine enemies.
Tamora. I am, therefore come downe and welcome me
Titus. Doe me ſome ſeruice ere I come to thee,
Lo by thy ſide where Rape and Murder ſtands,
Now giue ſome ſurance that thou art reuenge,
Stab them, or teare them on thy Chariot wheeles,
And then Ile come and be thy wagoner,
And whirle along with thee about the Globes.
Prouide thee two proper palfrays, blacke as iet,
To hale thy vengefull waggon ſwift away,
And finde out murder in their guiltie cares.
And when thy Car is loaden with their heads,
I will diſmount and by thy waggon wheele,
Trotte like a ſeruile footeman all day long,
Euen from Epeons riſing in the Eaſt,
Vntill his verie downefall in the Sea.
And day by day Ile do this heauie taske,
So thou deſtroy Rapine and Murder there.
Tamora. Theſe are my miniſters and come with mee.
Titus. Are them thy miniſters, what are they called?
Tamora. Rape and Murder, therefore called ſo,
Cauſe they take vengeance of ſuch kinde of men.
Tit. Good Lord how like the Empreſſe ſonnes they are,
And you the Empreſſe, but we wordlie men
Haue miſerable mad miſtaking eies:
O ſweete Reuenge, now doe I come to thee,
And if one armes imbracement will content thee,
I will imbrace thee in it by and by.
Tamora. This cloſing with him fits his Lunacie,

VVhat ere I forget t
Doe you vphold and
For now he firmelie t
And being credulous
Ile make him ſend fo
And whilſt I at a ban
Ile finde ſome cunnin
To ſcatter and diſpe
Or at the leaſt make
See here he comes, a
Titus. Long haue
welcome dread Furie
Rapine and Murther
How like the Empre
well are you fitted, h
Could not all hell af
For well I wot the E
But in her companie
And would you repr
It were conuenient y
But welcome as you
Tamora. what woul
Demet. Show me
Chi. Show me a vi
And I am ſent to be
Tamora. Show me a
And I will be reueng
Titus. Looke roun
And when thou findſ
Good murther ſtab h
Goe thou with him,
To finde another tha
Good Rapine ſtab hi
Goe thou with them
There is a Queene a